

www.PMForum.org is the most popular independent online news and information portal serving the world's project management professional community. Consistently in the top ten project management websites by major search engines, attracting approximately 250,000 visitors per month, www.pmfourm.org is the home for both PMForum and the extremely popular free subscription-based PM World Today eJournal.

PMForum is a globally focused PM information and news portal with a global audience that includes top-level practitioners in the modern project management profession. PMForum is unique in that it harnesses the expertise and insight of a world renowned Global Advisory Panel with the “on-the-ground” contributions of international correspondents around the world who provide compelling, timely, relevant and forward thinking PM news and content. PMForum also contains a vast library of information on project management practices and global project management affairs. Key features include

- Breaking news – stories about major projects and project management from sources around the world, with archives extending back two years.
- Press releases – daily postings of news releases from and about PM organizations and people, with extensive archived news in the PM News Room.
- Events Calendar – a listing of major project management conferences and events around the world, where PMForum’s Media Partner services are also described – this is a rapidly growing service.
- Expert Resources – an extensive listing of and links to leading providers of project management products, services and technologies around the world.
- PM Library – articles, case studies, papers and stories contributed by the project management profession's leading thinkers and writers
- PM Organizations – a references to the world’s leading project management organizations
- PM Discussion Forum – where professionals can discuss issues and find solutions to real world project management problems.

David Curling was the visionary founder of PMForum and PM World Today. Realizing the value of his personal library in 1993, he made it publicly available through a new technology known as the Internet. Today, www.pmfourm.org is one of the world’s largest and most popular websites serving the professional PM community. PM World Today boasts subscribers from every part of the world. David was a longtime member of APM (UK), founder of the PMI Ottawa Chapter and PMI Fellow.

David L. Pells continues the vision as Managing Editor of www.pmfourm.org and PM World Today.

David is a globally recognized leader in the field of professional project management, with over thirty years of experience in PM related activities and positions. His professional experience includes a wide variety of programs and projects, including engineering, construction, transit, defense and technology, and project sizes ranging from several thousand to ten billion dollars. He is a former member of the board of directors of the Project Management Institute (PMI®), and was awarded PMI’s Person of the Year award in 1998 and Fellow Award in 1999.

PM World Today is the world's most comprehensive monthly PM focused eJournal.

Each issue features compelling articles, papers and contributions from project management authorities, experts, and practicing professionals from around the world. Each issue includes regional reports from international correspondents that provide an active pulse on the global PM community with a local focus. Each issue also provides the latest project management news and information from around the world.

Each month PM World Today is emailed to a focused subscriber list of nearly 10,000 professionals worldwide. All content is hosted at www.pmworldtoday.net. Each issue is featured on the PM World Today website for 30 days. Upon the publication of the each new issue, past issues are archived on the website for revisiting and quick reference.

PM World Today is both a product and a service:

- ❖ An online publication, containing educational articles, papers, news and information.
- ❖ A source of new information and knowledge about professional project management, and a snapshot of the PM profession around the world.
- ❖ A service to PM authors and experts who want to share their experiences and knowledge
- ❖ A service to PM experts, consultants and organizations who want more visibility in the PM marketplace
- ❖ A service to PM professionals who want to gain PDUs for PMP recertification through publishing

Through PMForum's Alliance Program, PM World Today is indirectly distributed to several thousand others around the world each month. For information about this program, contact editor@pmforum.org.

A Global Network of Advisors, Ambassadors, Authors & Correspondents

The PMForum Global Advisory Panel consists of current and former leaders of the world's leading project management professional societies. Their experience and insight help guide PMForum in matters associated with the world of professional project management. In particular, the group advises the managing editor on ways that www.pmforum.org can best serve the international PM community. PMForum Global Advisors include Fellows and Former Chairs of AIPM, APM, IPMA, PMA, PMAJ and PMI. For additional information, visit:

<http://www.pmforum.org/pm%20forum%20team/advisors.htm>.

The PMForum Global Correspondents Network consists of active, dynamic and motivated project management leaders and representatives in important industrial and political capitals around the world. PMForum's International Correspondents provide timely and varied project management-related news and information from around the world. International Correspondents are experienced PM professionals and, in some cases, current or former leaders of recognized PM professional organizations. Correspondents also provide PMForum with local representation. For more information, see <http://www.pmforum.org/blogs/news/2006/08/pmforumorg-announces-global.html>.

PMForum's International Editorial Advisory Council consists of Academic leaders and professors from many of the world's leading universities with graduate programs in project management. Each representative is a professor or head of department, and well known in his or her respective country's project management community. Additional information about the PMWT International Editorial Advisory Council and participating universities can be found at www.pmworldtoday.net/team.htm.

The PM Ambassadors™ Speakers Bureau is a service for project management leaders and meeting planners worldwide. The program offers project management authorities, experts and leaders who are available to speak at conferences, meetings and seminars worldwide. PM Ambassadors™ include globally-recognized PM experts; authors of PM textbooks; former presidents and chairs of PM professional societies; experienced project managers; and retired executives of project and program-oriented organizations. Information about speakers and potential presentation topics can be found at <http://www.pmforum.org/ambassadors/ambassadors.htm>. Please contact ambassadors@pmforum.com for more information.
